

Love won't hold back

So I'm writing in the book that bares your name
As I'm slowly taking steps to bare my soul
I only dare reflect it's not a game
But I can't hold back what I cannot control
And I'm always tempted to make this a task
But a privilege this is this so I know
And for some reason I guess I'm scared to say
But it's so clear I won't hold back at all

Love won't hold back
Love bares your name
We don't wear clothes
And in a way we're in this world alone

And as I write these words I can't let it go
But I know this is the only place we're going
For a long long time we will not be alone
And I want to let you know that I'm in love
Seriously I never did decide
It's true there are some things that you just know
And I know I'll never have to say goodbye
As I look you in the eyes and watch you glow

Love won't hold back
Love bares your name
We don't wear clothes
And in a way we're in this world alone

And I feel the need to write another verse
Cause I haven't said enough and never will
And I'd like to show you everything I have
But for now I'll come to you and be still
