

Rex the Tune

Time to take me to the river
Time to take me far away
Away from all the archers and their quivers
The angry mobs who came to share their fates

Time to take me to the mountains
The answer's there and it's not far away
The silence as I climb through every corner
The arrows' ashes slowly drift away

And I'm gonna get my start
I'll get my motor running
High is fine
But in a way I know I must escape
Sit right back down
And find your faith in nature
The only truth there is
Is one you must embrace

Time to lead me to the ocean
I'll watch the sun set down beneath the orange waves
Time to sit me by the fire
And let the flames eclipse my guilt parade

I can feel it pumping
That's my motor moving
High is fine
But all the way I know I must obey
Sunshine, My mind
Is like a rolling boulder
The only truth there is
Is one you must embrace.

Time to lead me to the heavens
I've put it out there now I'm coming home
Time to rest and be with God now,
Why nature has been throwing you the throne
